ALICE M. CHAPLIN, Teacher.

Hymeneal.

Among the passengers whom the overland stage brought through Ukiah last Friday was Mr. N. N. Brown, who will be remembered as being with C. D. Ambrose when that gentleman first went into business here, about three years ago. Mr. Brown is now head clerk in the mercantile establishment of H. C. Snow, Eureka. Though business has claimed much of his attention, he has found time to worship before the shrine of Venus, and as a result thereof he passed through here on his way to Sacramento, there to bow his neck to the conjugal yoke. That his virtuous bachelorhood will be rewarded by unalloyed matrimonial happiness is our most earnest wish.

In regard to the late tragedy enacted near Round Valley not long since, when a man named Grieves lost his life from the hands of one White, Belle Lynch says it is a grievous wrong to be committed by a White-man, especially in this county.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

To THE ACTING EDITOR: We will take a leap from Ukiah to Potter Valley. About 6 p. m. we arrived at the hospitable house of John Mewhinney. We found him as usual plunged neck and shoulders into work. It is a busy season with him. From all appearances he will turn his labor to better account than he did last year. The misfortune of hop raising last year is too well known to need any comment at this date. This year the crop, though not looking as well as last year, is really better. The strobiles are smaller by at least one-half, but they are all the better for that. It causes a better sale, and while the uninitiated would look upon it with disfavor the hop raiser views this seeming deficiency with joy, as his imagination weighs down his pockets with the affable and adored ducats which he expects as the reward of his labor. Mr. Mewhinney and Mr. Miller are the only ones in Potter Valley who have raised hops this year. The former has about thirteen acres, the latter about four. There was another grower in this valley, but owing to last year's discouragement he withdrew from the business. On Monday last about three tons were dried, one of which belonged to Mr. Miller. If the present prospect for fair prices holds out those who had the courage to cultivate their vines will be well repaid. Already twenty cents has been offered, but growers are sure prices will increase, as the crop east has fallen off, and also in some parts of Europe. It is necessary that good prices prevail this year in order that last year's losses be offset a little. Mr. Mewhinney had a little difficulty in procuring the services of Indians. He disavowed the idea of hiring them by the day, and offered them one cent and provisions found. The Indians being poor in computation of figures at first scorned this offer. Two English speaking bucks acted as negotiators, and gave notice that not an Indian would work unless hired by the day. (We presume Kearney had been prompting them). Mewhinney told them in peremptory tones to be on the ground Monday morning to go to work upon his terms. At the same time more Indians than he needed were on the ground, but unawares to him. When they were notified of the conditions upon which they were to go to work, and found there was no alternative for them, he had more than he needed at supper that night. He is getting along finely, both in picking and curing. After spending a comfortable night and being breakfasted we were shown about the premises of the house by Mrs. Mewhinney who, by her never-ceasing labors, has made as comfortable a home as we have seen in Mendocino county. It is not only the fruit of her energy, but of sobriety and industry all around.

Potter Valley is a beautiful country. Its soil is fertile, and its people are as hospitable as old-time Virginians, as far as we have discovered. There is a refinement about the people that evinces progress in culture and education. Everything of the immoral is wholly discountenanced, and we know of no section in which a healthier moral condition exists.

At Pomo we met our lately deputy county clerk, W. M. Wilson, enjoying the comforts of his home. At Z. W. Bransford's store we had the pleasure of hearing, by means of a telephone, Mrs. Bransford perform on the organ. Music conveyed in this manner gives a more delightful sound than when one is closed in a room where the instrument is being played. This telephone is the only one we have seen which is a success. Through it conversation can be distinctly heard. It is made of a tobacco box, with the tympanum midway. A wooden hose works better than tin.

It was advertised that on the twenty-ninth a lecture would be given by the worthy grand lecturer of the state grange at the grange hall, Centerville, but this has been postponed until Saturday, September 6. A ball was to have been given at the same time. This leaves us at Pomo. You will hear from us again next week, provided we are not demolished by the sun.

There is no diphtheria or other sickness in Potter.

Letter from Willitsville.

EDITOR PRESS: Weathercool. Ice water and lemonade at a discount. Whisky straight the only beverage. We are to have a first class restaurant, by Dan Southard. Will open in about four weeks, with Dick Steiner as manager of the culinary department. Dick knows how to cater to the tastes of the most fastidious.

Mr. Ingersoll is putting the finishing touches on Williford's fine house. Two buildings have been put up in this town since the roads opened in the spring.

Orrin Whitcomb was arraigned before Justice Muir on Wednesday—assault on one Cook—held to appear before the next grand jury. Halle prosecutor, Grey defender.

Dr. Mason is having good success in the practice of his profession, and is always ready to attend to biz.

No cases of diphtheria in the valley as yet.

Mrs. Jessup is improving. She is at home now.

Sheep ranches have increased in value since Dave Carson and party went up with forty-seven head dogs.

On a recent visit to Calpella I noticed our old friends Klein and Quinlevin doing business at their old stands, ready to oblige customers or to tell them of the future prospects of that ancient city.

The Odd Fellows are in full blast, with W. L. Brown in the chair.

AMIGO.

WILLITSVILLE, August 24, 1878.

IN MEMORIAM.—DR. J. G. MORSE.

Down the western heavens slowly
Rolled the foggy August sun,
And his slanting beams were sifted
Through the casement, lattice-rifted,
Softly falling one by one.

And the moving lights and shadows
Seemed to glorify the place;
Like an angry man from Heaven,
Of the Promise God had given,
Lighting up the wasted face.

Wasted face and features wasted
By disease for many a day,
With his mind untouched, untainted,
And a spirit surely sainted,
There the dying Christian lay!

Round his couch in anguish gathered
Cherished children, weeping wife;
While the sands were slowly dropping,
Never ceasing, never stopping,
Dropping moments from his life!

And the years were fully numbered—
Numbered three score years and ten:
Dying now a death so painless,
Having lived a life so saintless,
'Mid the lives of other men.

One was there—the merest baby—
With wide eyes and bated breath
And on her hand was nestling,
While with him a giant wrestling
Was the Mystery of Death.

Both seemed pausing on life's threshold,
Clasping hands a moment there—
Grandfire out from life departing,
Grandchild on life's journey starting;
Both seemed strangely free from care.

One with all an infant's trusting
In the path that must be trod;
One with Christian faith relying
On the promise never-dying,
Through that faith looked up to God!

But the loving eyes were shrouded
In approaching Death's eclipse;
And the Golden Bowl was broken,
And the loving words, unspoken,
Died upon the pallid lips.

Yet a smile like Heaven's Aurora
Dawned upon the face so calm;
Then the lines of Death grew bolder,
And the hand grew heavier, colder,
On the baby's rosy palm!

Requiescent! Heart so kindly!
Nevermore that passive hand
Shall we clasp in Friendship's token
Till the Fiat shall be spoken
That reveals the Better Land!

POINT ARENA, August 6, 1878.

Ukiah Jockey Club.

The racing interest which late sporting events have so thoroughly awakened in Mendocino county has been culminated in the organization of the Ukiah Jockey Club, which was effected on Tuesday evening last, with the following officers: president, F. O. Townsend; vice president, W. H. Forre; secretary, W. W. Cunningham; treasurer, G. W. Heald. The members have lost no time, but have already secured from Mr. Heald a suitable piece of land about three-quarters of a mile from Ukiah. We believe this gentleman has given the club the use of the land. A half-mile track will be made upon it, the work to begin at once. It is the object of the club to have their races, if possible, after those of all the fairs of the adjoining counties and districts, in order to have no opposition. This will probably be some time between the tenth and twentieth of October. It is to be hoped the club will be successful in their undertaking, and as the officers are the right men in the right place the prospects are fair for some lively racing in the fall.

Auction Sale.

On Saturday next, at the auction store of C. D. Ambrose, in Ukiah, a lot of household and kitchen furniture will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder: 1 bed room suit, 12 mattress, chairs, tables, towels, sheets, comforters, blankets, quilts, books, etc. etc. There will be many other things offered which are not mentioned here. Everything is in first-class condition. Auction takes place at eleven a. m. A splendid chance for a bargain.

O. D. Orvis, traveling agent for Sanderson & Horn, tobaccoists, San Francisco, was in town this week.

We hear that William Hopper, of Little Lake Valley, has lost his mental balance, brought about, it is generally supposed, by too much excitement during the term of camp meeting. Monday he was in chains, as it was considered dangerous to allow him his freedom.

We are told that in his sermon last Sunday the Rev. J. Logan took up the cudgels against the camp meeting plan of getting religion. He considered the article obtained there by means of the excitement incident to such occasions as likely to be of little benefit to the convert, and attributes the popularity of camp meetings to the same cause that invests the circus and bear garden with such attractions for the masses.

Ed Hagans' Blue Wing saloon is being refitted in first class style. The card rooms have been repainted, the ceilings whitewashed, new carpeting laid upon the floors, and new furniture added. The billiard room has not been neglected, and would do credit to a much larger place than Ukiah. The "mints" George Carter puts up there will make the happy imbiber to withstand old Sol's fiercest attacks these hot days, and tradition asserts that their seductive influence has in the memorable past lured more than one teetotaler from the ways of sobriety and the lodge.

That Thousand-Dollar Race.

It was announced some time since that a race would take place at Round Valley on the twenty-fourth instant between the horses Bird and Bogus for a purse of $1000. It was expected to be a grand affair, and the interest not only of the sporting fraternity but of the public generally was excited over the forthcoming event. Saturday the twenty-fourth came and went, but no race. The horses and their backers were early on the ground, but strange as it may appear to the uninitiated no start could be obtained. The whole day was spent in "turning," to the disgust of the spectators and the probable benefit of the turners. Toward dark Bogus galloped around the track, and the purse was demanded for him. The backers of the other horse had the ill taste to object to this way of losing the race money, and the proceedings wound up with an animated debate, productive, however, neither of blood nor money. At last accounts matters remained in statu quo, the friends of Bogus claiming the race, those of Bird protesting, and the judges non-committal, maintaining a dignified silence.

BORN.

In Ukiah, August 24, to the wife of C. C. Hamilton, a daughter.

DIED.

In San Francisco, August 24, Julia Elizabeth Wilson, aged 17 years and 9 months.

Healthful Enjoyment.

If you want to amuse yourself two nights in the week, in a healthful manner, you should join the association which now attends at the gymnasium hall. There is nothing better for the health than the exercises given at such places. They develop the muscles, strengthen the body, and do away with a great many imaginary diseases. Those who lead an indoor life, in their occupation never get sufficient exercise, consequently circulation becomes inert, muscles diminish, and feebleness takes possession of the body, indigestion and melancholy ensue, and then a train of evils follow that makes life wretched. The doctor is consulted and he advises exercise, and then the invalid has neither the heart nor strength necessary, and thinks it is impossible. So take the exercise first and you will not be bothered. There is every convenience at the gymnasium, and Gessler is a professor in the art of training in gymnastics. The exercise is exhilarating, and the fun—the best medicine on earth—is worth the money. Join at once.

For Sale.

A fine ranch of 1000 acres, 600 of which are Russian river bottom, 400 of which are now in cultivation. The ranch is in the highest state of improvement. Enquire at this office. #

The Petaluma Steam Marble Works at Petaluma are becoming very much noted for their exquisite work and taste in turning out Monuments and Headstones. Most of the work done in these shops is from original designs, giving their customers something new, better and for less money than at any other marble yard on this coast. The proprietors, Thompson & Jacob, are doing ever so much work for San Francisco, being so fixed with their machinery (which they run night and day) that they can sell work in San Francisco much cheaper than can be done there. Parties wishing any thing in this line, or in mantles, etc., etc., can make a great saving by purchasing of the above firm.

City Mills, Ukiah, Cal., is the place to buy the very best brand of flour for family use, and as cheap or cheaper than can be bought anywhere else.

The best family flour for sale at Isabel's mill at $5 per barrel by the ton, or at $6 per barrel retail.

A No. 1 American Sewing machine, the best made, can be had at this office for wood, grain, fish, flesh, or anything else marketable. Warranted to be in perfect order.

SEWING MACHINE to trade for wood, hay or grain. Weed pattern, in good order, at Carpeners.

Sewing machine for sale at this office. American No. 1. The best machine made. Cheap.

Chas. Tindal is agent for the New Wilson Sewing Machine. All farm produce will be taken in exchange for machines. Can be seen at the store of C. Hoffman.

DR. G. T. MASON, SURGEON PHYSICIAN.

OFFICE—LITTLE LAKE, Mendocino Co., Cal. Special attention given to Surgery and diseases of females. All bills considered due when services are rendered.
