JOHN L. McNAB LOOKS LIKE SURE WINNER

As the days pass it looks more and more as if John L. McNab would be chosen by the voters at the coming primaries as the Republican nominee for governor. The young men of the party are rallying to the McNab standard and are insisting that an energetic young man with a clean record and a personality that would make votes in a campaign is the man to lead the party to victory at the coming election.

The only other man who appears to be in seeing distance of the nomination is Bank Commissioner Alden Anderson who has a strong following among the bankers of the state. It is thought that Anderson will pull out of the fight before the primaries and that the way will then be smooth sailing for McNab.

McNab's candidacy is being so enthusiastically received in this county that it is estimated that his nomination would be worth several hundred votes to every other candidate on the ticket. In other words with McNab for governor the whole county Republican ticket would go through and the court house would be void of democrats.

HIS MONEY TROUBLE.

He Gained a Dime and Then He Figured Up the Loss.

The next time Lionel, whose other name doesn't matter, gets his optics on an unattached dime he'll look the other way. For Lionel is all peevish over an adventure he had the other night—an adventure that had a dime for its foundation and for which he can blame no one but Lionel. He rehearsed his money trouble thuswise:

"In a Broadway car I saw it—the dime that was hoodooed. It lay upon the floor of the car unclaimed and lonesome. No one else seemed to care to take it in and give it a welcome, so I did. But even as I reached for the bit of silver the trouble drama opened. My suspenders snapped with the strain—for, as you can see, I'm not built on the sturken garden plan as regards avoidupois. Thereupon I reached back to gather the frayed ends of the busted surcingle, still feeling for the chunk of white metal with the other hand. My watch, not to be shamed out of the drama without a chance to do its little part, dropped out of my pocket, making a decided hit. The crystal broke into 7,809 pieces, not counting the one that I got in my finger later. The works mingled with the dirt and shattered glass, and the case tripped gayly into a corner. Just to show it was also interested, a perfectly good silver dollar bounced out of my waistcoat pocket and did the vanishing act—where, I know not. A fountain pen, all framed up with gold bands, followed suit. By this time I was giving the rest of the passengers the show of their lives—and nobody coming across with anything but the giggle gag. And I couldn't vocalize my feelings because there were ladies present. Holding on to my wrecked raiment and carrying my assorted ruins as well as I might, I hurried myself off that car at the next corner. Then I beat it for a friendly retreat and totaled up the event. The wreck had set me back $41, but I had the dime!"—Cincinnati Times-Star.

HIS LEGAL AUTHORITY.

It Seemed to Fit the Case, and Joey Was Discharged.

There was consternation among the young folk. The "muscle" for the dancing at the picnic in the glen had got into trouble. No one ever considered any other "muscle" but Joey the fiddler. He was indispensable, but he was also erratic. In the old country Joey had been a schoolteacher and a man of considerable learning, but here he had fallen into evil ways. He was overfond of two things—a bottle and an argument. Having become engaged to the latter on this day of the picnic, he broke the former over the head of his opponent and was haled away to the lockup. The young people called a hasty meeting and appointed a committee to wait upon Squire Nugent to secure the release of the "muscle" if possible. The squire was hearing Joey's case when the committee arrived. The spokesman respectfully explained the absolute necessity of Joey's presence at the picnic that day.

"That's a good soul, squire, I've me go," put in Joey.

The squire took down a ponderous lawbook and began thoughtfully to turn the pages.

"If you're lookin' for the legal authority coverin' my case, squire, ye'll find it in Byron," the prisoner suggested.

"Can you quote it?" asked the magistrate, with a twinkle in his eye.

"Aye, so I can," Joey promptly retorted. "It reads, 'On with the dance; let Joey be unconfined.'"

The squire adjudged Byron a competent authority, and Joey was unconfined.—Catholic Standard and Times.

"Dear me," exclaimed the lady, "that's twice you have dropped that cut glass pitcher within five minutes!" "I know it, ma'am," replied the maid, "but it didn't break the first time."—Chicago Record-Herald.

MUSINGS

BY ELIZA VEEDER DOW.

With our excellent grammar and high schools and up-to-date teachers, it seems strange that about two thirds of the youths of the land cannot walk, talk, sit or stand. Of course this is somewhat exaggerated but to see the multitudes of wobblers, hear the numblers; see the lollers and shamblers, one is lead to think that physical culture was a neglected acquirement. Why is it that children are not taught grace of manner, distinctness and fluency of speech and courtesy and reverence.

Just notice the attitudes of the children in the school room, in the home and on the street! How few are graceful, erect and courteous.

So a child is trained in his formation periods, so will he be when matured. Trees are not trained when they are old.

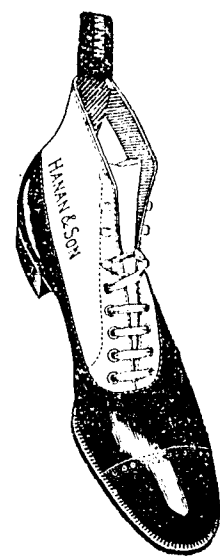

Voice culture is greatly neglected everywhere and all the time from youth to old age. The human voice is a wonderful instrument of sound and capable of exquisite tuning and melodious utterances.

Just walk up gracefully and speak softly and be a joy to all whom you meet.

Do not be brutal, coarse, irreverent and egotistical; be as graceful as a lily and sweet as a rose; let your voice be like a harp tuned to the sweetest symphonies.

Give at least fifteen minutes every day to special voice and body culture and have an ambition to be the most graceful, well formed and developed individual in every place you many find yourself, either at home, in a crowd or at your class.

Just stop sprawling out your feet when you sit down and place them firmly upon the floor in front of you and brace back your shoulders and hold up your head and speak in clear, soft, distinct, musical tones. Do it, and do it today and every day.

Will the parties who have been throwing boards on the road at Blue Slide kindly turn the nails with the sharp ends down instead of letting them stick up in the air? A special request of Irving H. Brush, who says it is no fun to get a puncture in such a muddy place.

Dr. S L Rea is anxiously awaiting the return of his tire chain, which was lost in one of the many mud holes between Ukiah and Hopland. So eager is he to have it returned that he has offered a genuine Owl cigar as a reward for its return.

George Lambert spent last Tuesday in Healdsburg driving his new 4-cylinder Reo touring car and making arrangements to have it shipped to Ukiah. The car arrived Saturday and is one of the "classiest" machines in town. The new Reo is making quite a showing in the east, and promises to be a great seller on this coast. This is the first shipment to reach California and nearly all of the cars have already been sold.

Irving H. Brush has accepted the agency for the Buick cars in this county, and perhaps Lake county. The Buick have proven that they are the best medium priced cars on the market and from the present outlook there will be many Buick sales made this season. In this line are the "White Streaks," which are made with single rumble, surry seat or double rumble seats, and this year a toy tonneau body has been added to the line, with prices ranging from $1150 to $1350. The Buick "40" is made with a touring car, roadster, town car, limousine, landaulet or coupe bodies. A good variety of bodies is offered and the same "Reliable Buick engine" furnishes the power for each model. Mr. Brush is recognized as one of the best automobile men in the state and will see that each machine sold in his district gives perfect satisfaction, and is kept in good running order. He will be pleased to hear from anyone interested in these cars and will furnish them with catalogs and literature, or by calling on him he will give you a demonstration in his new car.

TRIBUTE FROM A FORMER FRIEND

John T. Bloomer, a former resident of this city, but now of Oakland wrote to Frank Albertson last week a touching tribute to the memory of the late W. W. Cunningham. The following is an extract from the letter:

I am prompted to write this by a death notice I saw in "The Call" of today. Thirty years ago Mr. Cunningham was a Justice of the Peace and a young and enthusiastic democrat was haled before him charged with using language more forcible than elegant when the news of Hancock's defeat reached Ukiah. When the evidence for the prosecution was all in. The judge turned to the prisoner and said "Bloomer your conduct was most reprehensible and if I thought that Gen. Hancock stood any chances of election, I would fine you $50.00. But as I feel sure our man is beaten your case is dismissed."

In all the years that have passed since then I have not forgotten that incident, and I hope and pray that Mr. Cunningham will have justice meted to him on the same lines of charity by The Supreme Judge before whom he now stands.
