UKIAH BAPTISTS Celebrating Centennial

This coming Sunday is the beginning of the "Centennial Week of Celebrations" in the Ukiah First Baptist Church.

On July 25, 1859, the first Baptist Church was organized with six people as charter members.

Today, 100 years later, the First Baptist Church has a membership of over 500 and owns a half block of property with four separate buildings for Sunday School and Worship services.

The Centennial Week gets underway this coming Sunday afternoon with an all-Church picnic in the city park, starting at 1:30 p.m.

There will be a pot-luck dinner at 3 p.m. The highlight of the picnic will be the outdoor evening service at 5 p.m. in the football and baseball stadium.

(There will be no evening service in the Church proper on Sunday night.)

Banquet-Pageant

The committee on historical records has been working hard on Saturday night, July 25, the Baptists will hold a Centennial Banquet and Historical Pageant.

The 100 years of history of the First Baptist Church will be presented in drama form, with Mrs. Charles Whitaker, Mrs. Lloyd Hamlin and Mrs. Frank McCray in charge of the presentation.

The entire week's celebrations are under the leadership of the co-chairmen, George Sholin and Lloyd Hamlin.

On Sunday, July 26, Dr. Mack McCray, the Northern California Baptist State Convention secretary, will speak at the morning service.

In addition all the members of the church who have been members for 25 years or longer will be honored and presented with gifts at the Sunday morning service.

The Sunday evening service (July 26) will feature a Centennial Baptismal Service. The evening will draw to a close with a Centennial "Coffee and Cake Hour" following the evening service. The present pastor, Rev. Frank McCray, will begin his second year as pastor on Aug. 16.

Off to Camp

Miss Suzi Taylor will leave for Camp Pinecroft this weekend to be on the staff of the Junior Camp of the Northern Baptist Convention.

Camp Pinecroft is located near Colfax and different age groups of the Baptist Church are using the church-owned camp area all through the summer.

In addition to Miss Taylor, campers going to this particular camp include Billy Wiemeyer, Kathleen Golding and Barbara Burns. Rev. McCray has just returned from Camp Chiquapin, near Strawberry Lake where he served as camp pastor, counselor, campfire director, class teacher and evening vespers speaker.

Young Methodists Hear Don Baldwin

Ukiah was represented by 11 members of the Methodist Church Youth Fellowship when Don Baldwin spoke Monday at Clearlake Highlands.

Baldwin, who has just completed a trip around the world, lectured on his experiences and slides were shown by Don Baldwin Jr., who accompanied his father on the world tour.

The slides illustrated how Methodist ministers, contributions and the Methodist youth fund, have helped people in all parts of the world.

Prior to the program, members of local fellowships swam in Clear Lake and held a picnic in the park.

FAITH LUTHERAN Pastor Turns Down New Call

The Rev. Albert C. Young, pastor of Faith Lutheran Church of Ukiah, received a call from St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Roseburg, Ore., to be their pastor, he announced today.

Roseburg has a population of 12,550 and is a lumber town. The call offered the challenge of building a new church plant and of uniting the mother congregation with a daughter congregation in the city.

However, after careful consideration and a discussion of the matter with members of Faith Lutheran Church Pastor Young decided to remain in Ukiah.

Faith Church has had the services of Pastor Young for eight years. In the meantime he has received calls from four congregations. During his pastorate the local church has enjoyed good growth and four new missions have been established in Cloverdale, Lucerne, Willits and Laytonville. It will be necessary for Faith Church to build an adequate church plant soon for worship and Christian education purposes, the pastor said.

GRAND JURY

problems acute, with little progress toward solution thereof. In recapitulating the long, embittered fight between physicians, administrators, nurses, supervisors and medical committees over county hospital operation and improvements, the Grand Jury recalls that since 1951 there have been five different medical directors at the hospital, with local doctors pinch-hitting when director vacancies occurred.

"This is likely to continue unless, Ukiah, like Santa Rosa, becomes a medical center," the Grand Jury points out. "The supervisors can't always make the proper decisions, and must rely on the medical director or consultant or staff. Neither the medical society or the supervisors appreciate each other's problems."

The Grand Jury did note that in recent years the business administration has made progress; the nursing staff is generally stable and qualified and other positions appear well staffed. In view of this the county hospital should provide medical care of high quality. If such quality of care is not provided, then, the Grand Jury reports, it must be the fault of either the medical director or the supervisors—or BOTH.

The Grand Jury committee on the hospital was interested in inter-departmental coordination, pooling of information and cooperation between staffs. The results of the Grand Jury hospital committee's inquiries was not satisfactory, the report reveals. Inter-departmental coordination was poor or non-existent; there were no meetings held to exchange ideas.

Efforts of the county medical society and supervisors to come to agreements and policies were not fruitful, they said. A new medical advisory committee set up by the medical society to help the supervisors had to wait two months to meet with the supervisors committee because of the press of the supervisors' business.

The members of the Grand Jury hospital committee was receiving an increasing number of unsolicited reports from individuals in the community and in the hospital as to the negative nature of the program conducted in the hospital.

Reports indicated that personnel in the hospital were dissatisfied and that the nursing staff considered resigning. It is the Grand Jury understanding that at least individual members of the nursing staff did consult their state association.

The Grand Jury report states there have been severe personality conflicts having no place in well-run public institutions. Many county doctors have been dissatisfied with the medical program and some of the policies of the county hospital and as a result they are not cooperating and only reluctantly forwarding patients.

In April of this year a second doctor was employed by the supervisors for work at the county hospital. This has resulted in much needed improvements. Prior to this time the medical director was the only doctor for the entire hospital. It is the opinion of the Grand Jury that since hiring of the second doctor there has been improvement in staff morale and medical care at the hospital and it is hoped it will continue.

There finally was a meeting of the representatives of the advisory board of the county medical society and the supervisors and ideas for the future were developed. If these are carried out the Grand Jury feels the hospital and patients will be benefited.

It was suggested at the meeting two doctors from the hospital and a doctor appointed by the supervisors to advise the welfare department go over the patients' charts every two weeks; in case of disagreement as to treatment among the three doctors the case should go to the medical advisory board.

In order to insure public confidence in work at the hospital and maintain an adequate medical care program it is the opinion of the Grand Jury that certain administrative improvements must be made. The improvements of the past few months must not be temporary and must continue. The Grand Jury recommends that the county medical society should act as a board of review in cases of disagreements in medical practice at the hospital and to assist the board of supervisors when necessary to find new medical personnel.

"For such a committee to be used effectively the medical society of the county and the supervisors must come to a closer understanding of each other's problems and in their meetings exercise considerably more patience and tolerance than has been exhibited in the past," the Grand Jury report and history of the county hospital problem concluded.

"DULLES AIRPORT" NAMED

WASHINGTON (UPI) President Eisenhower has named Washington's new international airport after the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. The new 9,400-acre airport, now under construction near Chantilly, Va., is expected to be in service sometime in 1961. It will be known as "Dulles International Airport."

Truck and Trailer Overturn; Stalls 101 Traffic

A Crescent City truck and trailer upset on the Redwood highway three and one-half miles south of Hopland at 5 o'clock Thursday evening and hampered traffic for a time.

Virgil Forbes, 32, was in charge of the lodge 3-axle flatbed truck and trailer headed south when he found it necessary to pull onto the shoulder to allow traffic to pass.

While pulling back into the road the trailer overturned pulling the truck over with it.

Patrolman Walter Kelso covered the accident and reports that a right rear dual flat was a contributing factor to the accident.

CLEAR PATH TO JUSTICE

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — Judge Donald F. Black took another step toward removing obstacles from the path of justice. Noting that all-male juries are a thing of the past, he ordered brass cuspidors removed from the jury box. They were smugling blocks for women jurors, he ruled.
